JURY

The sixth edition of the Top 50 Women in Sustainable Finances shines a spotlight on female leaders who have made a visible and impactful contribution to sustainability within the financial sector over the past year.

From large banks to smaller funds, NGOs to academia, and pension funds to insurers: the diversity among the nominees reflects the many different aspects of sustainability within the financial domain.

The final selection was made on June 17, 2026 by an expert jury. From over 160 nominations, the jury selected the 50 most impactful changemakers in sustainable finance. In making their selection, the jury considered tangible impact over the past year, emerging talent, representation across different facets of the financial sector and organisation sizes, and the broad range of sustainability themes; from climate and water to renewable energy, sustainable agriculture, life sciences, health and impact measurement.

This year's jury consists of: Jellie Banga (chair), Lars Dijkstra, Maarten Edixhoven, Nicolette Loonen, Cindy van Oorschot, Faisal Setoe and Stephan Veen, supported by WIFS board member Lievijne Neuteboom.
